

NDIS Understanding Workshop #6

6. Is self-management for me?

The NDIS Understanding series of half-day workshops build capacity and resource community organisations.

If you work to directly inform people with disability and families, then this series of NDIS workshops is a must. Why?

- 'Train the trainer' workshops give you the information and resources you need to inform people with disability and families about the NDIS
- The 'Participant Pathway' is changing now that the 'transition to full Scheme' is beginning
- We come to you; free workshops will be available throughout Australia in 2016

Is self-management for me?

Self-management of an NDIS Plan is not as hard as many people think. This session helps you support a Participant to make this decision.

Be better prepared to provide information on the pros and cons of self-management as well as the skills needed to succeed.

Who should come to these free workshops?

People who provide information and skills training for people with disability and their families are encouraged to participate in this workshop series.

This is ideal for training staff or volunteers from community based information, capacity building and advocacy organisations.

1. How does the NDIS work?
2. Reasonable and necessary
3. Planning and standing strong
